

May 29, 2017

Arbitration and “Appellate” Review: Competing Legal Principles

Eric Sparks

Litigation

Construction

In this article, published in the American Bar Association's Construction Litigation magazine, Gould & Ratner partner Eric Sparks discusses how arbitration has begun to mimic litigation by including discovery, motion practice and even the possibility of merits-based review of awards.

The full article can be found here (registration and/or subscription may be required).