

February 9, 2024

Gould & Ratner Earns Workplace Recognition Among U.S. Law Firms

Gould & Ratner LLP was named by U.S. News & World Report to its inaugural list of the “Best Companies to Work For” among U.S. law firms for 2024.

The top ranking was the result of an objective, data-driven analysis of law firms conducted by the publication’s editors and guided by a panel of experts. Several factors that are important to employee well-being and job satisfaction were considered, including work/life balance and flexibility, career opportunities and professional development, and quality of pay and benefits.

“We’re proud to be among a select list of firms, including only a handful of other Chicago-based firms, that are considered to be great places to work,” said Laura Sears, Gould & Ratner’s Chief Administrative Officer. “We are constantly striving to be the type of workplace where people enjoy working and are afforded the opportunity to thrive and succeed.”

“Best Companies to Work For” by U.S. News is a free online resource for job seekers. The ratings are not influenced by any fees or data provided by the evaluated firms.

For more than 80 years, Gould & Ratner LLP has provided comprehensive legal counsel and business advice to Fortune 500 corporations, closely held businesses, financial institutions and entrepreneurs, as well as families and their businesses in corporate, real estate, construction, litigation, tax, estate and succession planning, intellectual property, human resources and employment, environmental, policyholder insurance coverage and related specialty fields.