Real Estate

Linsey Cohen, chair of Gould & Ratner's Real Estate Practice, was recognized as one of 50 real estate professionals to be inducted into Midwest Real Estate News' (MREN) 2020 Commercial Real Estate Hall of Fame.

In profiling Linsey, Midwest Real Estate News noted, "[She] learns as much as she can about her clients' businesses so that she can provide the best possible to support their real estate goals."

Linsey draws upon 23 years of experience in all areas of real estate including retail, office and multifamily. Her deal-making experience strikes the strategic balance between risk and executing her clients' vision. Linsey represents developers, owners, investors, property managers and entrepreneurs with property interests in Chicago and throughout the United States. Linsey has an indefatigable business acumen that keeps good deals alive, even in the most complex negotiations. In handling sophisticated commercial real estate acquisitions, dispositions, financing and leasing transactions, Linsey advises an impressive roster of clients, including: one of the nation's largest drugstore retailers, a neighborhood-centric coffee retailer, a discount supermarket chain and a Pennsylvania-based national media company and radio network.
